

Palm Springs was not on the Butterfield Stage Line. There is no building in Palm Springs that was a Butterfield Stage station. The nearest point from Palm Springs that the Butterfield stage line passed on the desert was more than one hundred miles away.

Crossing our desert the Butterfield Stage Line ran from Yuma, southerly into Mexico to avoid the sand hills, then northwesterly up Carrizo Creek, to Carrizo Station, Vallecito station and the stage station on Warner's Ranch which is in the mountain valley south of Warner Hot Springs. The proof of the exact location of the Butterfield Stage Line is well established. At Vallecito the station has been officially restored; at Warner's the old station is in a fair state of repair; the old adobe house on Warner's ranch is now being used as a bunk house.

The Butterfield Stage Line has become a symbol of early stage lines in California. Hence, the many errors that arise as to its location and the claim by persons that certain communities far off its true route were on the famous Butterfield Stage Line. While the Butterfield Line did not pass through Palm Springs the famous Bradshaw road with its stage line did pass through Palm Springs. If you are interested in knowing something of the Bradshaw Road, its location and the history surrounding the man who built it, read the article, "Gold Builds a Road," by J. Wilson McKenney, in the December issue of The Desert Magazine.

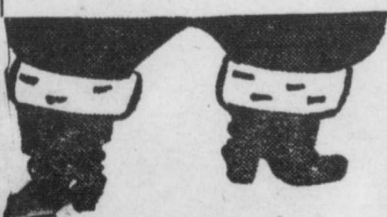

It is possible to drive a light car over the old Bradshaw Road but this is fair warning not to try it if you are not acquainted with desert roads and sand and have not the patience to take things philosophically when the going becomes difficult. I drove all but a few miles of this road last spring and know that it is trying in spots. If you are a hard-surfaced-road driver, stay off the Bradshaw Road, but if you know what you are doing and have the type of car to go places on the desert then it is an interesting trip.

The old Butterfield Stage road up Carrizo Creek is a fair desert canyon road. There are a few sandy spots and a few rough spots with several short grades thrown in but a careful driver will get along nicely. There is much to see on this route and if you have a little knowledge of early pioneer California history the road will re-live the days when the Butterfield stages bounced and bumped along from station to station. It is said that the passengers of the stage

Indians' Income Double This Year Over Last Year

According to available records, incomes of the Palm Springs tribe of Indians last year, when their funds were administered by the tribal committee, was probably less than half of this year's income. The first column of figures was obtained from a certified copy obtained from the Bank of America, showing deposits made by the Indian committee during 1936. The second column was obtained from the records of H. H. Quackenbush, federal agent in charge of the reservation.

El Paso Theatre To Open in January

El Paseo Theatre is being enlarged to have double the former seating capacity, and will be opened January 15th, by Earle Strebe, the lessee. Mr. Strebe signed a 10-year lease for the theatre, which also calls for a $10,000 improvement program.

Mr. Strebe has leased all three of the local theatres ever since they were constructed. For several years he had only the Palm Springs Theatre. Then the El Paseo Theatre was built, and he leased that also, using the latter only for occasional special engagements.

Last season the beautiful Plaza theatre was opened, and Strebe took that over also, operating both the Plaza and Palm Springs Theatres and keeping the El Paseo showhouse dark. This season, however, he will have regular attractions at all three.

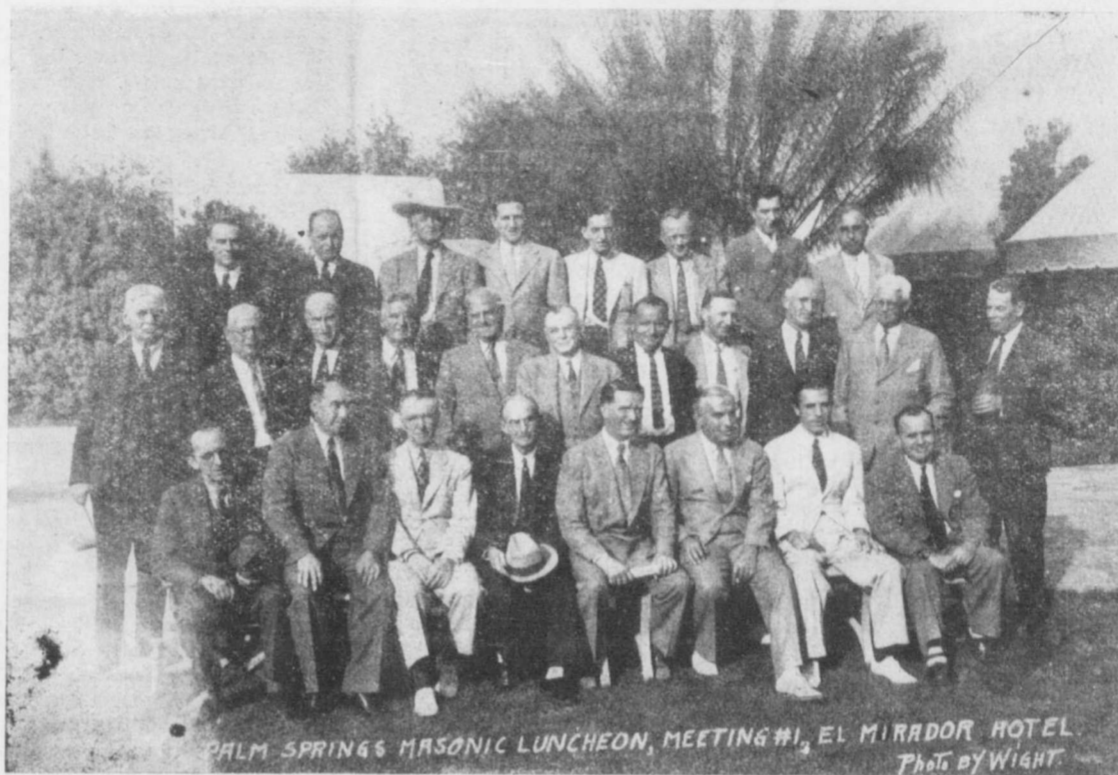

With this season's indications for extremely prosperous conditions in the Village, Strebe decided a week or so ago to reopen the theatre and arranged the new lease with Milton Hicks, the owner.

The show will run only class pictures, Strebe said, and will be operated along the lines of the Four Star Theatre in Los Angeles. In fact, it may even be called the Little Four Star Theatre of Palm Springs.

In order to make the theatre a first-class house, improvements costing about $10,000 were begun this week. These include enlarging the

Down Town Parking Service

Parking in the down town area should not be such a problem this season as it has been in the past, due to the Palm Springs Parking Service, sponsored by Earle Strebe, Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, and George Robertson, with the local merchants co-operating.

Entrance to the parking service is the private street between the Desert Inn Garage and the Village Pharmacy, where uniformed, bonded attendants take charge of the patron's car and park it. Parking for hundreds of cars has been provided.

This service was inaugurated by business men for the convenience of residents who have found it difficult to park while shopping. Down town shops will validate the parking tickets.

Merchants and their patrons interested in this parking service are asked to communicate with the manager, Frank Manning, or Earle Strebe, manager of the Palm Springs and Plaza Theatres.

The parking service will be of especial benefit to the business interests and their patrons during the busy Christmas shopping season.

Wertheimer Recovering; Mrs. Mannix Dies in Automobile Wreck

Al Wertheimer, owner and operator of the fashionable and exclusive Dunes Club, near Cathedral City, owes his life to the instant action of Dr. Henry S. Reid and assistants last Saturday at the Reid Hospital in Palm Springs. Mr. Wertheimer's heart had stopped beating several minutes, the blood had begun to set in the veins and arteries, and respiration had ceased completely. Adrenalin was injected into his heart. Faintly the organ began to function, slightly the lungs began again to operate, and gradually life returned. He had been virtually resurrected from death.

The fact that he was in a completely-equipped small hospital, where all the work is concentrated under one managing head, was one of the factors that saved the man's life.

Mr. Wertheimer had to have four blood transfusions, and he regained sufficient strength by Wednesday that he was removed to a Los Angeles hospital in order to be under the care of his personal physicians, Dr. Clarence Moore and Dr. Maurice Kalin.

Mrs. Edward Mannix, wife of the general production manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, was killed at 2:30 a. m. Saturday near Palm Springs, and Al Wertheimer was critically injured in an automobile accident.

The accident occurred four miles south of Palm Springs. Police said the couple was returning to Palm Springs from The Dunes.

It is reported another car was stuck in the sand, off the road, and the headlights of that car and the tow car may have confused Wertheimer. He turned off the road and hit the soft sand, his car turning over several times.

Mrs. Mannix was pinned under the car and probably died instantly. Mr. Wertheimer suffered many broken bones, including broken ribs, collar bones, shoulder, pelvis bone, and a ruptured bladder. His chest was so badly crushed that most of the ribs were broken. Besides, he was suffering so severely from shock that he was barely breathing when taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Mannix went to the resort for the weekend and had gone to the Dunes Friday night on a bridge party with friends. At the early hour she accepted Wertheimer's offer to drive her back to the fashionable resort.

Informed of the accident Mannix, who was at their Beverly Hills home, rushed to the scene by airplane. The body was taken to the Wiefels undertaking parlors in Banning.

Eddie Mannix, the deceased woman's husband, is one of the executives of M-G-M, and succeeded Irving

Lions Club Starts Trade-at-Home Campaign

Merchants Asked To Decorate Their Stores

A "Shop in Palm Springs" campaign is under way in real earnest by the Palm Springs Lions Club, a group of more than 50 public-spirited business men.

The Lions Club has had placards printed and placed in the windows of all of the business houses, calling the public's attention to the fact that they should buy in Palm Springs during the holiday shopping season. Dr. Franz Buerger was busy all day yesterday putting up the cards in local business houses. He expected to complete the job today.

The club will endeavor to convince the public that it pays to trade in Palm Springs because there is a wide variety of shops which carry an assortment of high grade merchandise equal to that found in the city stores, and that prices are no higher here.

The Palm Springs resident who buys at home saves time and the inconvenience of shopping in crowds such as are encountered in the cities.

The Lions Club asks all merchants to co-operate by exemplifying the Christmas spirit in every respect. They are asked to decorate their stores and windows with holiday decorations, and to put lighted Christmas trees in their windows or in front of their stores.

The committee in charge consists of Dr. Franz Buerger, Ralph Nesmith, Harry Williams, Jack Williams, John Sprague, Jr., Al Gardiner, and Harold Barkow.

Posters furnished by the club to the merchants carry the following message:

Holiday Greetings From the Lions Club of Palm Springs.

In discussing the matter last night, Dr. Buerger, of the committee, said he would like to see colored Christmas trees in the palms and other desert trees on Palm Canyon Drive in the business district. "There are enough of such trees to offer a marvelous display, and it would be something different from anything to be found in any other community. This plan should also be followed in yards throughout the town, which would create a most unusual holiday spirit in a desert atmosphere. After all, the first Christmas was on a desert."

An ample supply of decorative supplies can be obtained at local stores.

Motion picture stars seen on the streets this week were Shirley Temple, Dorothy Lamour, Ray Milland, Martha Raye, Al Jolson, Ruby Keeler, Jobyna Ralston, the Ritz Brothers, Ned Sparks, Brian Aherne and Lily Damita.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE MORE GLORIOUS
THAN EVER BEFORE IN JOHANNA
SPYRI'S BELOVED "HEIDI"

SHIRLEY TEMPLE AND HELEN WESTLEY

Seldom does a book come to the screen with the background of tradition which distinguishes "Heidi," famous story of Johanna Spyri read and loved by millions the world over and now produced by Twentieth Century-Fox with Shirley Temple starred in the title role, coming to the Palm Springs Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Heidi" was originally published in German by an authoress who had achieved no unusual prominence until the appearance of this masterpiece. In the years that followed the classic sold into the millions of copies and was translated into all modern languages. It appears on the prescribed reading lists of schools all over the world.

On Sunday and Monday golden voiced Nino Martini comes to the Palm Springs Theatre in the hilarious comedy "Music for Madame." Joan Fontaine, young and engaging, is the lady of this story about a young Italian whose beautiful voice becomes the center of a Hollywood mystery. Allan Mowbray, Alan Hale, Billy Gilbert and Erik Rhodes supply the comedy highlights.

Flash! Our own "Chuck" Morrison comes to the Palm Springs screen Thursday and Friday in the picture "Law for Tombstone." He very graciously consented to do this role with Buck Jones in this story of the wild west. However, after the picture was previewed Mr. Jones was not so happy as it seems "Chuck" not only appeared in the picture, but we "hope" stole it from Jones.

Also on the same bill is a delightful romantic musical "Rhythm in the Clouds" with Patricia Ellis and Warren Hull.

DIETRICH AND LUBITSCH PERFECT COMBINATION

"Angel" the first film on which Marlene Dietrich and Ernst Lubitsch have worked together, as star and director, is definite evidence that this team is going to make a lasting mark in motion picture history. "Angel," which opens Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Palm Springs Theatre, is from every standpoint a remarkable production, with the "Lubitsch touch" and the fine work of Marlene Dietrich, Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas providing a brand of entertainment you can't afford to miss.

KERN, HAMMERSTEIN
WRITE NEW MUSICAL

A stirring tale of American life in the nineteenth century comes to life with a beautiful love story and lovely music in Paramount's "High, Wide and Handsome," now playing at the Plaza Theatre.

The screen play was written by Oscar Hammerstein II, the score by Jerome Kern, famous American composer. Rouben Momoulian directed the picture, which has a cast of over a thousand.

The main figures in the romance about which the film is woven are Irene Dunne and Randolph Scott. The cast includes Dorothy Lamour, Elizabeth Patterson, Raymond Walburn, Booksellers report that "Heidi" is a perennial best-seller and that it is in constant demand at public libraries.

Ever since Shirley Temple became America's first star of the screen thousands of fans have written to suggest that she make "Heidi." It was in response to these requests that Shirley was cast in the role.

Jean Hershold is featured as "Heidi's" grandfather.

Arthur Treacher and Helen Westley play prominent roles in the story, and Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Rumann are also featured in the cast.

Charles Bickford, Alan Hale, Akim Tamiroff, William Frawley, Ben Blue and Lucien Littlefield.

"Merry-go-round of 1938" is a merry, mad musical film that presents Broadway's foremost comics and some of Hollywood's hardest working actors in a fast-moving story in which the ingenuity of a theatrical boarding house battles the tactics of a society drawing room. If you can really let down your hair, you'll get a kick out of this wild comedy.

How Much Wood In a Cord?

"I want you to come over and look at my wood yard," said M. M. Ransom to a Desert Sun reporter this week.

"Why should I look at your wood yard, I know a stick of wood when I see it," replied the reporter.

"Do you know a cord when you see it?"

"Sure, it's a string."

But the reporter accompanied Ransom to his Desert Fuel Service wood yard, and consequently learned something about firewood. It's really a deep study.

"How much wood in that pile?" asked Ransom.

"Oh, I got a pile about half that big once, and they called it a cord, so that must be about two cords," answered the scribe.

"You didn't buy it here, then," said M. M., "for if you had you would have gotten a pile that size, for that is a cord of wood." And then he told the reporter some things about firewood he had never heard before.

There were piles of redheart mesquite, from Arizona. It looks something like the local mesquite, but is much cleaner, weighs a great deal more, and burns twice as long, leaving only a clean white ash after burning. It weighs a thousand pounds more to the cord.

Then there were piles of many other kinds of wood, some of them very cheap to meet the competition of peddlers. "That cheap wood looks good, but it burns quickly," said Ransom, "so it isn't economy to buy it after all." Briquettes, charcoal, kindling, and a new type of brick that is used in the place of kindling, igniting rapidly and burns long, are among the things carried in stock.

The Desert Fuel Service has bonded drivers, who rick the wood where the customer wants it piled, so they can measure it themselves. A cord is 128 cubic feet or a pile 4x8x8 feet, and a rick is a pile 2x4x4 feet, or one fourth of a cord.

Louis Stevenson's "Ebb Tide," coming to the Plaza Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and film audiences the world around get something different, substantial and satisfying to thrill to and talk about. It is doubtful if color film ever has had so severe a test or has given so fine an account of itself. Pictorially the piece is magnificent, with the most exciting sea storm ever filmed to give its mashing highlight, the technicolor adding a bold and crisp beauty to the marine scenes. A valuable asset is the presence of Oscar Homolka in an important character role. This is the first sea story in technicolor and the cameramen have done magnificent work. Homolka's American debut proves him a real star. Barry Fitzgerald is fine on the comedy end.

On the same program we are presenting the outstanding short subject of the month, Floyd Gibbons "Attic of Terror."

Form Rodeo Association in Palm Springs

Monday at 4:00 o'clock at Doc and Earl's Club, the Palm Springs Rodeo Association held its first meeting. Representatives from all the stables, ranches and the Field Club were present.

The purpose of the association was to create interest in the rodeos, Gymkhanas and horse shows of Palm Springs. At each show the winners of each event will receive so many points according to the skill and horsemanship required. There will be three kinds of events, one for cowboys only and the one having the most points at the end of the season will be awarded the prize as the Palm Springs Champion Cowboy. The same will hold true for the Champion Cowgirl, and a prize will be given for the Dude getting the most points. This will be a belt with silver buckle carrying the inscription "Champion Palm Springs Dude."

Each event will be decided on before each show as to the number of points the winners will get. The committee in charge of this is headed by Trav. Rogers and is composed of Melba Bennett, Les Vance, Johnny Vance, Jack Wentworth, Frank Bennett and Earl Coffman.

A list of all contestants will be posted and published each week so everyone can see how many points each has.

Frank Bogert was chosen president of the association and Jack Wentworth as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chitwood had as their house guests over the Thanksgiving holiday, a number of Mrs. Chitwood's relatives from Riverside. They were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. McKenzie; her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. McKenzie; and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Hobbs, and baby. Mr. Chitwood is one of the owners of the Plaza Garage.

Palm Springs Girl Has Harrowing Experience at Shanghai Bombing

Mrs. Sylvia McHenry, for the past 10 years a resident of Palm Springs, and last year secretary in the office of Munholland & Co., returned a few weeks ago from Shanghai, China, where she witnessed the slaughter of thousands of Chinese by Japanese airplanes. She was accompanied by Mrs. Susie Jonas, owner of the Wayside Inn, Palm Springs.

"On Saturday, August 14, we were invited to the Palace Hotel for tea and left home early to shop enroute," said Mrs. McHenry. "About four o'clock a group of Chinese planes started bombing a Japanese warship which had docked the day before at the Japanese Embassy on the Bund. We watched the planes for a time and then continued on our way down Nanking Road toward the Bund. About 4:30 the bombs which destroyed the Cathay and Palace Hotels were released. Many were killed and hundreds wounded.

"One Britisher, just returned from holiday, left his wife, two children and mother in the lobby of the Cathay Hotel while he went for a car. He returned in time to see them loaded into an ambulance, all killed instantly.

"Just outside the Palace door on Nanking Road lay a man's head, in glancing up, one saw the body hanging from a window. The lobby was chaos, with parts of bodies strewn about amongst broken furniture.

"In our excitement, we ran down the Bund to Avenue Edward VII, but finding no bus running and the crowds of Chinese refugees and others almost impenetrable, we pushed our way through in an attempt to walk home.

"We had reached the Race Course, when the planes started to again fly over the settlement—this time with Japanese planes in pursuit. We pressed against a high board fence surrounding the race course and watched the maneuvers.

"The planes were shooting at each other and much shrapnel fell. Finally one plane dived low and released two bombs about two minutes apart, I should say, the first one exploding in mid air, the second striking the center of the street on Avenue Edward VII, not more than two blocks from where we were standing.

"The vibration was terrific. Flames burst high into the air, and we thought at first some large building had been struck and was burning. When some of the flames died down and the smoke cleared we ventured closer to find a terrible massacre of Chinese.

"Any attempt to help seemed futile, so we turned and walked home. That night the radio reported approximately 1500 killed.

"Thirteen hundred bodies were stretched out on Tibet Road for recognition by relatives (should there be any,) and those portions of the bodies unrecognizable were shoveled into trucks and hauled away where trenches had been dug in which to bury them.

"Sunday all people were warned to remain indoors, but by Monday morning, our first horror having subsided, we again ventured forth, only to find more bombing along the Bund, but fortunately most of those bombs fell into the river.

"Before I left Shanghai to go to Manila, all of the Civic Center had been destroyed as well as most of the important hotels, stores, and a few banks. Chinese refugees were without shelter and many of them nearly starving."

Preceding the description of the bombings she witnessed in Shanghai, Mrs. McHenry told of her arrival there and the incidents which led up to the horrible slaughter of Chinese.

"We arrived in Shanghai on July 13, to find very hot humid weather. Our first impression of the city, with its tall modern buildings, was that we were arriving in New York Harbor, but after going through the customs and reaching the street with its hundreds of rickshas, dozens of modes of transportation, Chinese children begging, the Golden Lion (just across from the Customs Jetty, in front of a bank) which all Chinese passing touch for good luck—it is worn smooth by so much rubbing—we decided the following weeks would be very full ones.

"There was some talk of war, but no one thought it at all serious, and my friends continued to plan with me for a trip to Peking as soon as difficulties were adjusted, which everyone expected would be not later than the middle of August.

"The night life in China was quite different from that in Japan, night clubs surpassing those were here. It was extremely interesting to see the so-called "Young China" at these amusement places. The girls are very beautiful in their Chinese gowns of lovely silks; the men in silk trousers and long white silk coats, dancing to a combination of American Jazz, which gives one a peculiar picture of the old and new brought together.

"Shanghai is very modern, with beautiful parks, symphony orchestras giving programs out-of-doors, (the "under the stars" idea). My first night I relaxed in a long reclining chair, watching the stars and clouds, dreaming about the beautiful orchestration just finished, when I was suddenly showered with the most "gosh-awful" smelling spray. With a dash I sprang out of my chair, to find a coolie with a spray gun back of me eliminating mosquitos, the usual procedure between numbers at these symphonies.

"The first part of August brought more rumblings of war, but with very little alarm to Shanghaianders, although the huge gates closing the highways into the International and French settlements were oiled and put in readiness to close if necessary. There were many incidents of aggression, all of which the government managed to over-look or quiet. The Blue-jacket incident, of which you have read, and many others. But finally, during the second week of August, a group of Japanese picked a quarrel with guards at one of the gates and were shot, but not before the Chinese were also killed, so no true version of the incident could be secured. It was sufficient cause, according to Japanese standards, for war, and without warning they started bombing Chinese territory.

"On August 10th I went shopping on Peking Road, which adjoins Chinese territory, and found it very difficult to get through the masses of refugees coming into the International Settlement for protection. They were a pathetic sight, with their worldly belongings tied in bundles on their backs, or the few having more possessions, wheeling them on the native push carts with small children on the top of such furnishings.

"I spent the entire day roaming among them, talking to the few who could understand any English. They were panic stricken. The following days were equally as bad, but intensely interesting. Thousands crowding into narrow streets, sleeping on mats in the streets or in churches and public buildings which were opened to them."

Then came the terrible massacre of Chinese refugees related by Mrs. McHenry in first paragraphs of this article.

Mrs. McHenry, accompanied by Mrs. Susie Jonas, also of Palm Springs, left San Francisco on June 26, on the S. S. President Coolidge. She tells of their reception at the Hawaiian Islands and Japan in the following words:

"We were royally received in Honolulu with Hawaiian music, singers, leis. The Ponciana and shower trees were in full dress, lovely beyond description, and of course the ever present liquid sunshine kept us running for cover at first. Many trips about the island were available and after seeing the usual tourist show places Mrs. Jonas and I had lunch at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. We sat at a table next to Mary Pickford, Buddy Rogers, Janet MacDonald and Gene Raymond, who had just arrived via the Lurline, incidentally on wedding trips.

"The second morning out from Hawaii our Ocean News bulletin, distributed each morning at the breakfast table, was filled with war and rumblings of war in and surrounding Peiping, but little concern was given the news. We were all more interested in the finding of Amelia Earhardt.

"At Yokohama, Japan, a group of us hired a car for the day, driving first through the country side to Kamakura, where we visited several temples and saw Dibutsu of Kamakura, supposedly the largest Buddha ever built. The manager of the Kamakura Kabin Hotel was very proud of the modern facilities of his hotel and insisted upon our going through several rooms in order that he might explain the apparently "new baths." The plumbing fixtures were similar to those discarded in this country some 25 years ago—the bath tubs of painted tin standing on very high legs, etc. Altho in modern Japan, that is Tokyo, the hotels were quite as beautiful and as modern as anything in this country.

"From Kamakura we again drove through some 50-miles of countryside to Tokyo. The islands are mountainous and all gardening is done in small areas reaching into small canyons and up hillsides, so the trip was very picturesque. The Japanese coolies in the fields wore hats and brilliantly hued garments, such as we see in pictures and read about, but much more interesting in real life.

"At Tokyo we drove through the city to see the homes and embassies of the various ambassadors; the Tokyo Palace of his Majesty the Emperor of Japan, with its sunken gardens, surrounded by a small stream of water; the beautifully modern department stores, and finally lunch at the Imperial Hotel, which is comparable to the Biltmore or Ambassador hotels.

"Japanese dress largely in their native costume, the Kimono, of which we saw many exquisite examples; but the younger generation are copies of American youth, the children all going to school in uniforms, the girls in skirts and middies and the boys in a uniform of denim, American made.

"Night life consists almost exclusive of the ubiquitous "cafe"; this is a word with a new connotation for Cafe, Bar or Saloon are used in Japan without distinction and mean simply a place where men gather to drink Asahi beer and discuss the day's happenings with the pretty waitresses—and they are pretty! Wives and daughters always remain home except for an hour of shopping in the shops which are always open evenings. Night clubs here are non-existent, and dance halls limited in number.

"From Tokyo back to Yokohama and the Coolidge, then on to Kobe. From Kobe we drove to silk factories, saw brocade made, then spent an evening on Moto-machi, the shopping district of small shops, where we bargained for and purchased kimonos comparable to nothing found in America. The following day the trip through the Inland Sea! Beauty indescribable, an experience never to be forgotten, particularly if the trip is made during sunset, as we saw it."

Miss Betty Lou Cavender arrived here Tuesday evening to spend Thanksgiving day and the week-end with her father, Wally Cavender, manager of the Indian Paint Store. Miss Cavender is a student at Le Conte Junior High School in Los Angeles.

THE MANAGEMENT APPRECIATES THE KINDNESS IN WHICH WE HAVE BEEN RECEIVED BY THE PEOPLE OF PALM SPRINGS

THINKING ALOUD

By TED HODGES
Scribble-Inn, Palm Springs

Writing an initial column always gives me the feeling of starting a Thanksgiving dinner. When it's all down, I never know what item is liable to "kick back."

Catering to a new reading public is not unlike experimenting with a diet.

From my experience as a paragrapher, reader digestion in different communities varies like the days and nights in Palm Springs. I trust my efforts will eventually merit a bit of the atmosphere that pervades before San Jacinto—far too early—claims "Old Sol," to give a little warmth to the "other" side.

Yes, I realize things grow over night in this magic desert resort.

If you have noticed that this effort originates from Scribble-Inn, there are no accommodations available.

No monumental edifice has suddenly risen from out of the desert sands.

Scribble-Inn happens to be a low, sleek little thing that cavorts along the highway on two-wheels. A trailer. All's well. She's nestled off in a corner of Ramon for the season, surrounded on all sides by a lawn, the greenest of the green. Another of Palm Springs' wonders—ready for cutting a week after planting.

A bed of sand and plenty of water seems to produce unbelievable results.

Speaking of water. Trailer manufacturers tell you it's bad business to carry any water in the tank when riding—creates a modernized version of a "shimmy" and rhumba.

In spite of the terpsichorean effect produced, I have yet to see a trailer leave the park not loaded to capacity, at the insistence of milady's desires for a continuation of the perfect sham-poo.

Paul Vial leaving for Mexico's Acapulco with every drop of the precious fluid along, aptly describing his projected jaunt as anticipating one "big apple" all the way, just to satisfy his wife's vanity.

I never fully expected that an initiation into trailer life would be productive of all the comforts of home. The whole general atmosphere existing in Ramon and the actual appointments of a modern trailer has caused reason for reflection.

When such well known personages as L. C. Fuller of Kalamazoo, Michigan, Ralph Hamlin of Los Angeles, Hamilton Hopkins of Miami and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, come quietly rolling into camp. Each wheelabout representing the cost of a substantial home. One realizes the novelty of a trailer has now reached a state of permanency.

Of course there are times when trailer-life offers its problems.

Late last summer visiting with Bob Young, M-G-M's popular star.

Bob and Mrs. Young trailering in Laguna. Little Carol Anne, an abundant four year old being tucked into her trailer bed for the first time. After the customary good-night kisses, Carol Anne requesting "Now mother and daddy, turn out the lights and go downstairs."

As a guest of Director George Archambaud. A visit to the "set" of Jungle Love, featuring the lovely Dorothy Lamour and Ray Milland.

Poor Jiggs of Tarzan fame, the Money of "super" intelligence. Emoting with cocoanuts, "thither and yon." After several attempts at a "take" in which strangely enough each time "Jiggs" came through with a perfect performance. Finally after many tedious efforts "a lily" in picture parlance, the equivalent to the director's satisfaction.

As though fully prepared to resent any further nonsense "Jiggs" opened his gnarled and wooly hand, disclosing a discarded flash battery. Unless studio technicians succeed in erasing this bit, alien to the jungle, it might be interesting to watch for when "Jungle Love" reaches your theatre. Of course Miss Lamour's rapturous beauty may becloud any technical discrepancy. It is quite possible.

More and more the papers seem to discuss the subject of "trial marriages." From the last article I read, the situation seems to have been well taken in hand by the statisticians. It is a wise amateur that refuses to tangle with these nimble experts. If, however, their figures point to a decline in marital unions, with a go at something or other first, certainly an effort should be made to preserve those now in existence. Prompting the suggestions of "trial divorces."

Let the warring couples appear before a proper authority and all in good

THE RAILROADS

A crisis exists in the operation of railroads in the United States. It is so serious to become the concern of the public. Any business, to succeed, must take in more or as much money as it pays out. When it fails to accomplish that, it faces chaos or ruin.

Politicians, who probably would have a hard time in making a living in private life, seem to believe themselves competent to run railroads. As a matter of fact, railroads are run by men who started on the ground floor when they were mere boys. In spite of their ability they have a real job on their hands to keep "steam up." This is through no fault of their own; rather it has been brought about by high cost of operation, truck and automobile competition in hauling, and meddling in political circles.

On another page of this newspaper are some salient points on railroad operation which should be pondered by any nation which believes in a square deal.

Christmas Seal Sale Now On

Thanksgiving day marked the opening of Riverside county's annual Christmas Seal sale, in conjunction with the nationwide tuberculosis campaign, the thirty-first in the United States and the thirtieth in California.

An announcement from the California Tuberculosis association, which states the campaign will continue until Christmas day, follows:

"The Christmas Seal sale in California is conducted by 61 local city and county tuberculosis associations, all affiliated with the state and national organizations. At the present time, order be permitted six months to fling "high, wide and handsome." I venture to say, at the end of that period, if not before, many an errant pair will succumb to "that old feeling" and be happy to reunite with a solidity never before existing.

Missing by one day the opportunity of wishing you a "Happy Thanksgiving."

Using the past tense, permits me the wish that you enjoyed the day.

Somehow in these times of "up and go" we are inclined to overlook the significance of Thanksgiving.

If for nothing else I am grateful for the opportunity of spending the winter in the sun-kissed oasis, 'way out on the desert sands.

all but two counties are operating these voluntary health associations.

"The sale of Christmas Seals is the only method of financing the tuberculosis control programs of these associations. Less than 20 per cent of the funds realized by the sale of seals go to the state and national associations; over 80 per cent remain with the local associations to be used as community health problems dictate.

"The funds allocated to the state and national organizations are devoted to providing medical and nursing assistance to local associations and performing other services directly benefiting these groups. A portion of the allotted funds is also spent for medical and sociological research into the causes, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis. This research has brought about the great strides in tuberculosis control which have been marked during the last thirty years by the rapid decline in the death rate."

LION CLUB NOTES

The regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Palm Springs Lions Club was held this week on Wednesday rather than on Thursday, the customary day, because of Thanksgiving. The Club convened at Carl's Restaurant, the regular meeting place.

Because of the fact that Lion President Joe Schobe was suffering from a severe sore throat Wednesday, Al Gardiner presided at the meeting. However, President Joe was able to attend.

George Oliver, chairman of the Safety Committee, was chairman of the day and introduced Captain Ray King of the California State Highway Patrol.

Captain King spoke concerning the work of the State Highway patrol and gave many constructive suggestions to the club concerning our local traffic problems.

"There are many factors that cause traffic accidents," Captain King pointed out, "but the speed factor is the cause of most of the deaths. If the speed of all motor vehicles was reduced to below 50 miles per hour," he said, "the fatalities from automobile accidents would be reduced almost 80 per cent. The number of accidents would not be reduced by anywhere this large a percentage, but fewer deaths would result from the accidents."

Faulty tires are the cause of quite a few accidents. Captain King pointed out because of the extreme heat and the high speeds at which cars travel on the straight desert roads.

Concerning the parking problem on Palm Canyon Drive, Captain King stated that if the business men and their employees along that thoroughfare would park their cars on the side streets or in parking lots, that would greatly improve matters. More parking lots were also suggested for Palm Canyon Drive.

King suggested a four-way boulevard stop for the corner of Indian Avenue and Andreas Road. This would slow up traffic through the congested part of Indian Avenue. He also suggested that the school children be instructed to walk home along Palm Canyon Drive rather than along Indian Avenue where they must walk in the street. Points could be designated at which the children who live on the opposite side of Indian Avenue from the school could cross that street.

Captain King stated that the State Highway Patrol could probably relieve the double parking situation along Palm Canyon Drive by making more arrests for this violation, but when they do, the people of the village seem to resent it.

By posting a bond, school crossing signs can be placed in the center of the road in front of the school house. This would be a very great help in slowing down the traffic in front of the school and in making drivers more alert in watching out for child pedestrians.

Captain King demonstrated to the Club that the only way the streets of Palm Springs can be made safer is by a concerted effort on the part of a large group of citizens in making them so.

Next Tuesday night the Lions are giving an invitational dance at the El Mirador Hotel for their wives and friends. Also Lions from other communities and their guests will be invited to attend. This dance will be the official opening of the "Do Your Christmas Shopping Now In Palm Springs" campaign sponsored by the Palm Springs Lions Club.

The bright red and green cards seen in store windows all over town are also part of this campaign.

These cards read, "Merry Christmas. Do your Christmas Shopping Now! In Palm Springs. Buy Here! Celebrate Here! Live Here! Christmas packages must be mailed before December 15th to be delivered in the East before Christmas. Send some Desert Christmas Spirit to the folks

Famous Saddle Co. Opens Shop Here

"The Tack Room" is the name of the fine new saddlery shop that the Visalia Stock Saddle Company opened this week in the Colburn building in the spot formerly occupied by Phelps-Terkel, directly opposite the entrance to the Desert Inn.

Chuck Morrison, Palm Springs number one horseman, was directly responsible for the Visalia Stock Saddle Company opening a store here, and Chuck was presented with a key to the front door of "The Tack Room" by his friend, Lee Bergen, owner of this famous old company. Chuck, who has used Visalia saddles for over 25 years, says maybe he will work in the new shop himself, since he is its sponsor.

"Shorty" Johnson, manager of the new store, is a colorful figure and one that is well known among lovers of horses in California. "Shorty" probably knows more about handling Palominos than any other man in the state. He was for eight years the superintendent of Dwight Murphy's famous rancho at Santa Barbara, and has been host with Murphy on the famous Rancho Vistadores rides. "Shorty" Johnson will bring a beautiful Palomino here in the very near future and will then be seen riding it about the village on various occasions.

The Visalia Stock Saddle Company is a famous old firm. It was founded way back in 1870 and has always stood for the best in western saddlery. The home office of the company is in San Francisco and there are branch shops in Santa Barbara and Palm Springs. The Visalia Stock Saddle Company has made saddles for many famous people, among them the Maharaja of Indore, Col. D. C. Jackling (the copper king), the King and Queen of Serbia, Buffalo Bill, Edward Borein (famous artist), and Bill Spaulding (former mayor of Beverly Hills).

The Tack Room will carry a complete line of riding equipment, placing emphasis, however, on western saddlery and western riding outfits.

Lee Bergen, popular owner of the company, was here this week for the opening of the shop, but he has now returned to the home office in San Francisco. He expects to visit the village often during the season.

back home. Happy New Year! Holiday greetings from the Lions Club of Palm Springs."

Ralph Nesmith, chairman, Harry Williams and Harold Barkow have been appointed a committee of three from the Lions Club to aid representatives from other organizations in making arrangements for the Community Christmas Tree.

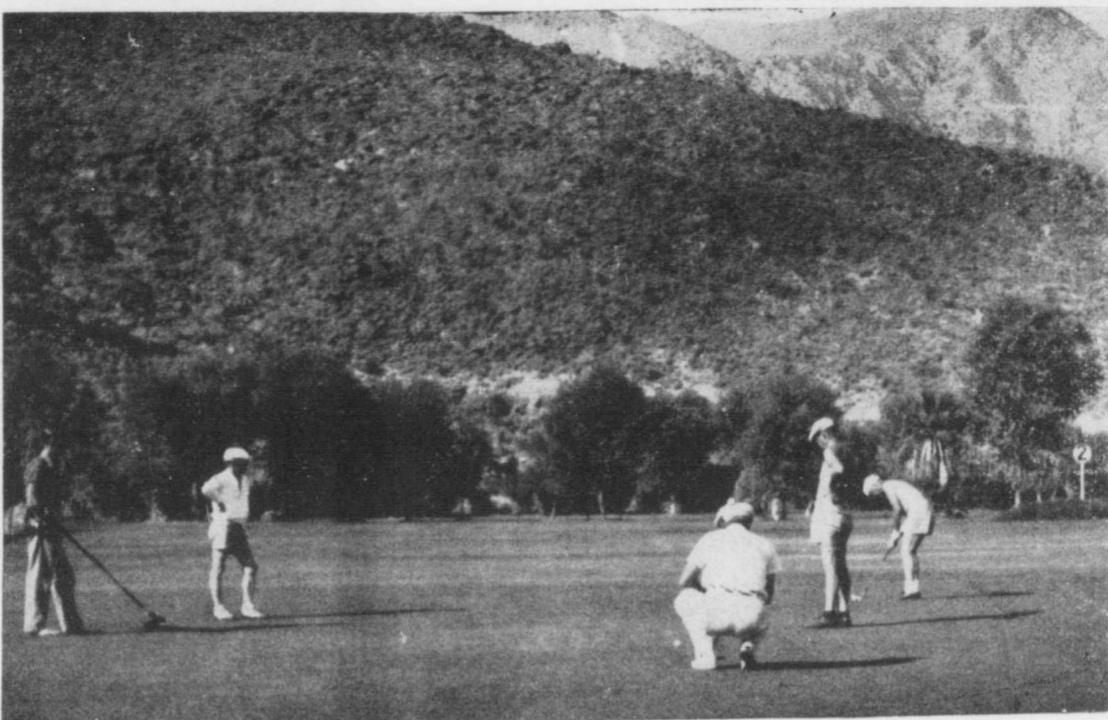

Lions Ralph "Strong-Box" Nesmith and Joe "Chief Long Probosis" Schobe squawked considerably at the meeting this week because it wasn't stated in the "Lions Club Notes" last week that they had been presented with Keys and made Key Members by District Governor Roy Day at the meeting last week.

To vent their wrath they were instrumental in getting a very innocent reporter fined 25 cents at the meeting this week. Ralph Nesmith will probably be fined 50 cents at the regular meeting next week for advertising "Palmer Steel Buildings" in the Lions Club column. Lion Joe will undoubtedly suffer later.

A number of Lions wore western costumes at the meeting this week, following a suggestion made in the weekly bulletin, "The Desert Lion."

FAMOUS LINKS STAR TO VISIT OLD STAMPING GROUNDS

In an interview this past week, John Montague announced his plans for the future. "The first thing I'm going to do is rest—and to me rest means play golf. I'm tired, dead tired, and after going to San Francisco I will go down to Palm Springs." While reading this we thought of another golfer, the present open golf champion who came to the Springs and started his real comeback. He is none other than Ralph Gudahl. After being practically out of golf, no connection at any club, he arrived at Palm Springs. He borrowed a set of clubs from Larry Browell and starting playing at the Desert Course. A number of Palm Springs golfers became interested in his playing, financed his Eastern trip and he is the open champion, western champion, and has won over $13,000. It was with Larry's putter that he putted to world fame.

Now, getting back to Monty. The Desert course, which he always has liked, will give him the best practice in the world. That of his short game, the part which is always neglected. Here's waiting for a visit from Monty, and a real comeback.

Golf Divots:

There is talk of having another Palm Springs Open Invitation event. At a meeting in the club house, Mr. John Kline, manager of the course, announced the plans as follows: To invite 21 pros and nine amateurs and to play for a purse of $2000. This would take in all of the leading golf professionals who are visiting the coast this winter and if the committee sees fit they will invite some amateurs. The Palm Springs Men's Amateur invitation will be held in February and the women's event will follow in March or early April. This will give Palm Springs one good event each month. Other events, such as putting contests, mixed foursome events on Sundays, is the plan of Mr. Kline.

Seen daily at the course:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, Detroit; Charles H. Clarke, Seattle; H. K. Dent, Seattle; Dr. W. W. Earles, Seattle; Mrs. Al Jolson, Bill Hay, Harry Ritz; Charles Correll ("Andy of 'Amos 'n' Andy' radio fame) dropped in to say "hello." Robert Woolsey sitting around the club house talking about a new pair of golf shoes, size four. Frank X. Shields, of tennis fame, practicing daily. Ernie Fors, taking lessons with the thought in mind of being local champion when they play in May. Milton Hicks keeping in trim for his next handicap with Father Lehane. Others: J. E. French, Mr. Dennison, Mr. and Mrs. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Griffen, W. H. Prior, Mrs. Richard Arlen, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Rager, John T. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Boyd, H. W. Orset, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Lippen, Chicago, and H. E. Crawford.

Milton Hicks, member of the Desert Golf Club, is representing Palm Springs during the invitation tournament now in progress at the Victoria Club in Riverside. The tournament ends Sunday, with match plays Saturday and Sunday. It is open to members of clubs belonging to the Southern California Golf Association.

Desert Riders Go to Heart of the Desert

Desert Riders rode out on the desert several miles east of the Field Club Wednesday morning, and enjoyed their bacon and eggs in the wide open space. The announcement sent to the riders by Top Wrangler Tony Burke read as follows:

"Greetings:

"Out East beyond the Field Club is the site where Palm Springs' first High School will be constructed (Unions willing). One mile further East our great new Airport (projected) will some day be the landing place for thousands of transcontinental sun-seekers in the magnificent airliners and sleek private planes.

"In the more immediate future, to be exact, next Wednesday, November 24th, Desert Riders will take breakfast at a camp still further Easterly into the desert and the morning sun. Be there between 8 and 8:30 o'clock and ride back by way of Whitewater Wash north of Tahquitz Wash south.

"Kindly observe the important rule of notifying your stable no later than 6 p. m. Tuesday, so that we can prepare sufficient chuck for you and your guests. The latter must be furnished with a filled-in guest card, one to each guest.

"Adios!"

Community Xmas Tree on Golf Course

A huge tree on O'Donnell's Desert Golf Course will be used as the Community Christmas tree this year. Exercises at the tree will be held on Thursday afternoon, December 23.

The Lions Club and the Community church are cooperating in presenting the tree to the children of the community. A campaign is now under way to raise money for the purchase of candy and gifts for the children. It is hoped that not a child in Palm Springs will be overlooked this Christmas.

The Palm Springs Builders' Supply Company will supply the material and will build the platform surrounding the tree.

The Lions' Christmas tree committee consists of Ralph Nesmith, Al Gardiner, Harry Williams, John Sprague, Jr., John W. Williams, Dr. Franz Buerger and Harold Barkow.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., famous globe-trotter and writer, was here during the past week.

Indian Paint Store Adds Many Departments Fine New Stock

Improvements at the Indian Paint Store have been continuous throughout this season, and each week new lines of merchandise are arriving at this store, which virtually promises to become a department store.

This week Manager Wally Cavender received a large shipment of lawn and garden furniture, much of which has been placed on display in an attractive new ramada just constructed in front of the store. There also he has on display a tent and other camping equipment.

Mr. Cavender carries the famous Gold Medal line of folding lawn and garden furniture, which is rated among the best on the market and is made especially for this climate.

There are interesting "Reclinabouts" which can be quickly moved to any location in the yard or garden; "Reclinettes" which are smaller and also move on wheels; lounge carts; all with adjustable "lazy-backs"; some with adjustable canopies and some without; cozy seats, folding chairs, huge lawn umbrellas, lawn tables with chairs to match, steel umbrella tables, lounge chairs. All of these are highly colorful and are just the thing for any yard.

The Indian Paint Store this week also received a large shipment of Perfection oil-burning heaters and airtight wood heaters. They carry a nice stock of cooking stoves for both wood and oil, and an assortment of ordinary household equipment, electrical appliances, garden tools, and furniture, including bedding.

Mr. Cavender is the authorized dealer for O'Keefe & Merritt gas ranges and has them on display.

Of course, the main feature of the store is paints, having ample stock to supply any quantity for any purpose at any time.

A large area in front of the store has been cleared to make room for parking. This parking lot is for the convenience of patrons of the Indian Store enterprises at the corner of Indian Avenue and Andreas Road.

Golf Practice Fairway Is Proving Popular

The Indian Avenue Golf Practice Fairway is in fine shape now for the season. The fairways are clean and level and the green where you shoot to win $100 for a hole in one is in fine shape.

A large number of people have been practicing at the Golf Practice Fairway the last week or two, according to F. E. Barrett, genial owner of the establishment. Barrett is quite

Winter Sports Planned for P. S. Guests

From a tropical setting to a region of ice and snow—from sun shorts, swimming, tennis and golf, to skiing and tobogganing—all in a few hours, promises to become a reality right here this season. Palm Springs will then be the only place in the world that can offer winter and summer sports, all on the same day.

It became known this week that local leaders are planning to cooperate with owners of the Idyllwild property in an ambitious winter sports program.

Warren Pinney has taken the lead locally in this move. Working with him are Earl Coffman, Frank Bennett, George Roberson and others.

The group this week are bringing here E. Des Balleits, Swiss winter sports expert. They will accompany Mr. Des Balleits to Idyllwild and show him proposed locations for ski runs and toboggan slides in Fern Valley and will get his advice as to advisability of improvement work contemplated.

If this work is done as proposed, in cooperation with the Idyllwild Corporation, Palm Springs visitors and residents will have this winter an ideal sport to enjoy snow sports within an hour's ride of the Village.

Screen Stars At Dinner Dance

Enjoying the dinner-dance Saturday evening at El Mirador were notables of screen and radio including Mr. and Mrs. Al Jolson, (Ruby Keeler) who were entertaining Miss Dorothy Andrews and G. Bennett Larson of Beverly Hills; Ralph Goetz, famous Los Angeles sportsman, who was entertaining a group of friends; Mrs. Marie Correll also entertaining a group of friends; Mr. and Mrs. Henry King, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stallings, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Morris, Lily Damita. Among the dinner-dancers from the Village were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hinkle, who entertained Miss Helen Lindsay and John Dye. Also present were Miss Helen Thomas and her escort Weston Havens.

Hike In Darkness
Through Palm Canyon

A hike through Palm Canyon on a dark night, without a flashlight or lantern, was the experience Sunday night of three prominent naturalists.

Don Admiral, local naturalist and writer; Randall Henderson, publisher and editor of the famous Desert Magazine, and Dr. E. M. Harvey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, hiked from Ribbonwood, on the crest of the mountains on the Palms to Pines Highway, to Araby, coming down through Palm Canyon.

They stopped in the upper end of the canyon to count the palm trees, and consequently had to walk the last 5 miles in darkness.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Esrey of Los Angeles spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Valentine, of Valentine's Pharmacy.

Publicity Bureau
To Meet Tuesday

Business people of Palm Springs will meet at the school house next Tuesday evening, November 30, at 8:15 to hear a report of the progress made by committees working on the organization of the Palm Springs publicity and advertising bureau for this season. The meeting is called by Florian Boyd, chairman of the organization committee, who with his committee men have been devoting many hours signing up members of the group.

Among local business people who are donating their time in the interest of reviving Palm Springs' efficient business promotion bureau are: Frank Shannon, Harold Hicks, Earle Gray, Jack Moore, Jack Wentworth, M. D. McNeer, Alvin Weingarten, Robert Lerch, Ernest Fors, Frank Partridge, Earl Coffman, Warren Pinney, Tom Britt, John Chaffey, Roy Medvy, Carl Barkow, Dr. M. L. Lachman, R. F. Outcault, W. J. Martin, Charles Bosworth, Travis Rogers, C. V. Knupp, Francis Crocker and others.

Boyd urges the attendance of all Palm Springs business people to hear the reports of the committees so that the local publicity and advertising organization may resume activities immediately.

Nijinsky at Desert Forum December 1

One of the most fascinating personalities ever to speak in Palm Springs makes her appearance next Wednesday evening, December 1, when Romola Nijinsky will address the first Desert Forum audience of the season at the Plaza Theatre, at 8:30 P. M.

Wife and chief biographer of Vaslav Nijinsky, famous Russian dancer, Romola Nijinsky has made a study of the dance both here and abroad, is well qualified in her subject "Three Schools of the Dance." Always interesting to patrons of art, this topic is particularly timely inasmuch as both the Ballet Russe and Trudy Schoop's Ballet are scheduled to be presented in Los Angeles this winter.

That the Forum has had the good fortune to book so popular a speaker for Palm Springs is due to the persuasive powers of its program chairman, Mrs. Frank Bennett. Responding 100 per cent to this season's well-balanced program are Forum members of long standing and a host of new residents and visitors.

According to Forum's president, Mrs. Henry S. Reid, officers of the organization expect to welcome a large audience to the Plaza Theatre next Wednesday evening.

Anyone wishing a season ticket for the five Forum events has but to phone ticket chairmen Dolly Harrison and Mrs. James B. Oliver, who will send beautiful members of the ticket committee scurrying in any and all directions. Single tickets for Wednesday's performance may be purchased at the ticket office of the Plaza Theatre.

Palm Highlands Sale Opens Tomorrow

Selling real estate cafeteria style, is something new here.

Palm Highlands, the newest close-in subdivision, will be placed on the market tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, in a very unique manner, cafeteria style.

The lots are all labeled with stakes showing the lot number and the price. The customer looks over the lots, picks out the one he wants, pulls up the stake and takes it to the tract office, where the deal is closed.

Robert Ransom, subdivider of Palm Highlands, has arranged for some good music and entertainment at two o'clock when the sale of lots begins. A celebrated master of ceremonies will be in charge of the program.

Palm Highlands is located a mile and a half south of the Plaza on Palm Canyon Drive where the road turns to Indio. It is in a very choice location near the exclusive Tahquitz Desert Estates. It is believed the tract will be sold out in a very short time.

Mrs. Harry Valentine and Mrs. George Temple, mother of Shirley Temple, enjoyed renewing old acquaintance this week, for the two ladies were high school classmates in Los Angeles when Mrs. Temple was Miss Gertrude Craeger.

To be firm in one's convictions is a desirable trait in human nature, but to have one hundred per cent faith in one's own wisdom, and none in that of his fellow man, is tragic.—Fairmont, Minn., Sentinel.

The Great Desert Fish Mystery Story Now Revealed

Lovely Thelma Royce, Singer at Royal Palms Cocktail Lounge

The mystery of the trout on the desert has been revealed.

Jack Moore isn't a prevaricator, after all.

He promised to tell local fishermen where and when nice, big, fat, game, trout can be caught right here on the desert, and has kept his promise.

The fish are in the swimming pool back of the Royal Palms Coffee Shop.

Jack Moore, proprietor of the coffee shop, purchased 150 of the biggest and best trout from the Rainbow Angling Club, and slipped them into the swimming pool today when Earl Gray, owner of the pool, wasn't looking.

Now somebody must catch these fish. Jack Moore supplies the poles and fishing tackle, and will cook the fish for those who catch them.

Next door to the coffee shop, the Royal Palms Cocktail Lounge opens today. Lovely Thelma Royce and Russ Cantor are the headliners on the program, and they sing and play the songs the public like to hear. They expect to be at the cocktail lounge for the balance of the season.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Moore were recent guests at the Inn. Dr. Moore was called down to attend Al Wertheimer case. They spent their honeymoon at the Inn about this time last year. Mrs. Moore was formerly Mrs. Claus Spreckles.

A leading Republican says the New Deal is buying the taxpayer's support with his own money. He's mistaken about that. The taxpayer's support is now being bought with his grandson's money.—Washington Post.

Community Church Notes

Sunday, 9:45 a.m.—Bible School.

Sunday, 11:00 a.m.—Morning worship and sermon. Dr. Macartney continues the exposition of the sermon on the mount. The verse, "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Sunday, 5:30 p. m.—Young people's hour. Larry Miller, president.

"An Orgatron." The final choice of the committee appointed last year has been ordered and will be dedicated Sunday night, December 12, at 7:30.

This fine musical instrument conforming to the standards of the American Guild of Organists and well adapted to the architecture of the Community Church, and the climatic conditions in Palm Springs, has received the unanimous approval of the committee. Careful investigation was carried on and the above decision was made.

Mr. Anewin Body Combs, organist for the National Broadcasting company, organist at Carnegie Music Hall, Pittsburgh, Pa., has written "You couldn't possibly go wrong in this choice. I wouldn't hesitate in recommending the Orgatron."

Last season $1300.00 was given by friends of the church towards the purchase of an organ. The installed price of the coming instrument, including provision for slight changes in the organ chamber, amounts to approximately $1900.00.

Mr. Clarence Reynolds of Los Angeles, an organist of note, will present the dedication program.

This advance step on the part of the people of Palm Springs will add much to the pleasure and enjoyment of our guests as well as those who abide here.

The beautiful little church is now well equipped, the grounds are being adorned, kitchen conveniences are now in place.

Celebrities at El Mirador

Mr. and Mrs. George Carlson, of Los Angeles, are continuing their stay at El Mirador, visiting the Warren Piney's. Mr. Carlson is a well known Los Angeles attorney with Ernst & Ernst.

Joining his wife and two children at El Mirador is Henry King, who flies from Los Angeles in his own plane. Mr. King is a frequent visitor here and is considered one of the best directors in Hollywood.

Mrs. Cecilia De Mille Calvin, who is spending the week here is often seen riding over the desert sands with Mr. Joseph Harper, popular Los Angeles sportsman.

Visiting from Beverly Hills are Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Ahmanson, (famous Los Angeles oil magnate) and with them are Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Tognazzini.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Jolson (Ruby Keeler) are entertaining Miss Dorothy Andrews and G. Bennett Larson of Beverly Hills at El Mirador.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Morris are spending the week at El Mirador. Mr. Morris just finished his Tarzan picture and is taking a much needed rest. He won fame as International Decathlon Champion at the Olympics.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stallings, he the writer of "What Price Glory," etc., are also spending the week here.

Lily Damita (Mrs. Errol Flynn) is a guest for a week.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Frost of San Antonio, Texas, is the beautiful young Memphis socialite, Miss Nancy Wellman.

Enjoying the warm sun of Palm Springs are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mertens, of Seattle. Mr. Mertens is vice president of several large Pacific coast companies located in Seattle. They cancelled Arizona reservations to stay longer in Palm Springs.

Mrs. Myrtle Mack, formerly of Iowa and now a resident in Huntington Park, is a guest of her brother Z. V. Decker, local realtor. Mrs. Mack and Mr. Decker visited their brother at Nightingale Camp yesterday where they are holding a family reunion.

Bowling League Score

The Commercial Bowling League took another change last Tuesday evening when the league leading Desert Grill team was dethroned by the hard hitting El Paseo crew for 4 points, thus putting the El Paseo in a tie with the Smoke Tree Boys for first place. The Ranch Hands took four straight from the Safeway Stores. The Nev-Cal Elec. Corp. team has taken a new lease and are now in a tie for third place with the Desert Grill. They also won four points from the Bankers.

The Bowling Academy has donated a beautiful Trophy for the winning team. It must be won two times to become a permanent possession. Small sterling silver medals will be given to each bowler on the winning team.

The Bowling Academy $25 Team will journey to March Field next Sunday afternoon to compete with a team from those alleys. Milt Hicks, Jerry Sanborn, Bill Seaton, Paul Weier and Ludie Britsit will make the trip.

The Paramount Pictures have furnished a host of bowlers and are competing for various prizes. A tournament for Friday night has been scheduled to be completed Monday evening, November 29. Ray Milland, Dorothy Lamour, George Arckimbaird, and many others will compete.

Radio Stations That Can Be Heard Here

For the convenience of radio listeners in Palm Springs and vicinity the Simpson Radio and Frigidaire Shop, exclusive local representative for Philco, R. C. A., and Zenith radio receivers, is publishing a list of radio stations which can be received in Palm Springs under normal conditions with a good receiver and a good aerial.

Due to conditions here it is often advisable for the listeners to tune their receivers to a more distant station when they wish to listen to a National Broadcasting Co. or Columbia chain program than they would if they were located in or around Los Angeles. A good example of this is the fact that KSL at Salt Lake City is usually received here at night more consistently than is KNX.

A great many more stations than given below can be heard in Palm Springs under exceptionally good conditions.

The following is a list of stations that come in well in Palm Springs under average conditions. Save this list for future reference.

570 kc KMTR, Los Angeles, day and night.

590 kc KHQ, Spokane, night, N. B. C.

600 kc KFSD, San Diego, day and night, N. B. C.

640 kc KFI, Los Angeles, day and night, N. B. C.

680 kc KPO, San Francisco, night, N. B. C.

700 kc WLW, Cincinnati, night, N. B. S.

790 kc KGO, Oakland, night, N. B. C.

800 kc WFAA, Dallas, night, N. B. C.

820 kc XEBG, Tia Juana, day only.

830 kc KOA, Denver, night, N. B. C.

860 kc XEML, Tia Juana, day only.

950 kc KFWB, Hollywood, day only.

1050 kc KNX, Hollywood, day and night, Columbia.

(Better during the day than at night)

1130 kc KSL, Salt Lake, night, Columbia.

1180 kc KOB, Albuquerque, night.

1190 kc WOAI, San Antonio, night, N. B. C.

Director Wounded In Accident In Palm Canyon

Dorothy Lamour is a marvelous actress, but as a knife-thrower she is "not so good."

A foot-long knife, thrown by Miss Lamour, starring in "Her Jungle Love" while on location in Palm canyon, missed its intended target in a tree trunk, and sliced the arm of George Archibald, Paramount director, instead, Tuesday.

Dr. William Williams, physician for the film company, took four stitches in the wound, on the arm just below the right shoulder.

Miss Lamour has been taking knife-throwing lessons preparatory to the filming of the scene, but she slipped as she started to hurl the knife from the top of a pile of rocks. The knife was supposed to have struck the trunk of a tree at the foot of which sat Ray Milland, co-star in the picture. The blade was supposed to strike near Milland's head in a "close-up."

After the mishap, Actor Milland expressed willingness to try the scene again, but Miss Lamour appeared on the verge of a nervous collapse and production was ordered stopped for the day, it was reported.

Smoke Tree Ranch Guests Entertained With Steak Ride

Smoke Tree Ranch entertained its guests and colonists on a steak ride to the experimental station near Andreas Canyon last Friday night. The moon, the steaks, and Dusty Adams were all in top form.

The following colonists and guests at the ranch participated: Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wilcox and Miss Towner Wilcox, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Chaffey, guests of Wilcoxes; Mr. and Mrs. John Gill, Montecito; Mrs. Hitchcock, guest of Gills; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Skiles, La Jolla; Mrs. Bauder and Miss Jean Bauder, La Jolla; Miss Dorothy Watson, Palm Springs; Miss Jane Miller, La Jolla; C. Christiansen, Long Beach; Miss Mary Alice Rokey, Portland; Mrs. M. P. Wentworth, Cornville, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Threlkeld Jr., Seattle; Mrs. William H. Wolf, Pasadena; Miss Walters, guest of Mrs. Wolfe, Palm Springs; Harry Batchelor, Palm Springs; Miss Martha Kreutzberger, Los Angeles; Miss Octavia Strand, Los Angeles, and Jack Dalton, Cornville, Arizona.

Two Famous Stars in a Local Cafe

Al Jolson and his wife, Ruby Keeler, at dinner at Claridge's.

Many prominent motion picture stars were seen at Claridge's this week. Among them were Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler, shown above, Al Kingston, Lynn Overman, Jack Benny, Mary Livingston, Jimmy Ritz, Bernie Topitzky, Honeybunch Wilder, Charles Butterworth, Jimmy Ritz, Mrs. Ricardo Cortez, Jack Haley and his gang, Con Conrad, Earl Carroll, Claire Windsor, Spencer Tracy, A. E. Freudeman, and others.

Charel de Thomee, famous concert pianist, is the entertainer at Claridge's. De Thomee is the sort of chap who can make a piano sing gayly or charm with soft dreamy music. He came last week to entertain at Vic Claridge's popular spot and as result, has made it more popular than ever.

Playing, in the main, semi-classical pieces, he is developing a new trend in cocktail and supper hour entertainment. A year ago de Thomee was the Parisian sensation of the Folies Bergere. His "Ava Maria" number is considered one of the most impressive bits of staging ever accomplished. Previous to his Paris success, de Thomee was accorded the honor of being the first pianist ever requested to present a concert in the United States Senate. He has won wide fame on radio also in this country.

Willis, Indians

with Willis and Castillo, were Francisco and Albert Patencio, Willie Marcus and Barristo Sol.

Puri Willis was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Chuck Morrison at San Diego Friday evening and at the same time warrants were served on the Indians here by Officer H. H. Quackenbush.

Presenting the evidence against the six defendants was H. H. Quackenbush, special Indian agent for the Palm Springs reservation, who charged that no accounting has ever been made for tribal monies collected during 1936 when Marcus and his committee members, assertedly abetted by Willis and Castillo, were the official tribal ruling committee.

The conspiracy charges were based by Quackenbush on certain alleged secret meetings held by the defendants after the committee had been removed from office last January.

John Andreas and Marcus Pete, members of the tribe, took the stand to assert that, although enrolled in the band, they had never received notice of tribal meetings or an accounting of the disbursement of funds during the last year. J. R. Cardwell, lessee of certain reservation property, testified that Willis and other defendants attempted to intimidate him.

The six men, represented at the hearing by Avery Blount, Los Angeles attorney, did not take the stand to offer any testimony or refute the charges, but called Quackenbush to go into further details of his assertions.

He said that the money of which the Indians assertedly did not render an accounting came from bathhouse and Palm Canyon toll receipts.

Bail for each of the six defendants was set at $10,000, and they are now being held in the Riverside county jail awaiting trial in the Los Angeles federal court.

The arrests came as the result of two and a half years of personal investigation on the part of Quackenbush, the latter stated to a Desert Sun reporter yesterday. One of the principal charges is that the committee failed to render an accounting of the disbursement of $9,873.46 which was banked during the administration of the committee, which ended December 31st, 1936, at midnight. He also charged that a check was illegally issued after that date in San Diego to one Dean LaMotte.

"Sympathy is due most of the Indians of the committee," said Mr. Quackenbush yesterday. "for I am sure they did not understand what was happening and I am sure they were misled by Puri Willis and Adam Castillo, their white advisers. I have evidence that these two men have been openly inciting the Indians to rebel against legally constituted authority by physical acts of actually taking over tribal affairs, which in itself made it necessary to take the legal action."

So far this year, under Mr. Quackenbush's administration, he has paid out more than $8,000 to the Indians from revenues obtained from Indian lands. So far this month the revenue has been $3500, and he expects $1500 more will come in before December 1st.

Organize

Crocker was elected secretary, and Al Gardner, treasurer.

Local Masons also started the ball rolling at the meeting Tuesday to form a Masonic lodge in Palm Springs, and there is some discussion among them to later organize a Shrine Club here, there being a number of Shriners included in the membership.

DeRoy H. Gates, of Banning, inspector for the Masonic lodges of this district, was the principal speaker at Tuesday's luncheon. He outlined in detail the procedure to organize the lodge. Another speaker was William McGinnies of Long Beach, secretary of the Masonic bodies of that city. He invited the local 32nd degree Masons to come to Long Beach tomorrow evening to witness the conferring of the high degrees on a class of candidates.

present building on the east side, increasing the capacity of the theatre to 350 seats, virtually doubling its size.

The seats will be raised to improve vision and comfort. Latest type movie equipment will be installed and many attributes for comfort and beauty added.

Strebe also said that no definite arrangements had yet been made with Mrs. Con Conrad for the presentation of stage productions at the Plaza Theatre. Mrs. Conrad has announced, however, that she will present one of the popular New York productions at this showplace early in December.

Wertheimer

Thalberg as production manager, after the latter's death.

Lou Wertheimer, Al's younger brother, came here quickly by airplane after the accident, and brought the Los Angeles specialists with him, and on Wednesday had the injured man removed by ambulance to the Cedars of Lebanon hospital in Los Angeles.

Metropolitan newspapers have had a great deal to say about the accident because of the prominence of Mrs. Mannix and Mr. Wertheimer.

Mrs. Bernice Mannix was one of the most beautiful women of Hollywood at the time of her death, and was only 37 years of age. Her 18 years of marriage to Eddie Mannix was one of the real romances of Hollywood, for the couple.

She and Eddie Mannix had been married for more than 18 years, and theirs was one of the finest real-life romances in Hollywood. She was internationally famous as a hostess at lavish parties and as a social leader.

The Mannix home is at 516 North Linden avenue, Beverly Hills. There Mrs. Mannix was hostess at numerous sumptuous parties for the celebrities of Hollywood, many of whom were her friends.

Born Bernice Fitzmaurice in Marlboro, Mass., she had been married for the past 18 years to the film executive. Her mother lives in Springfield, Mass. She also has five sisters and four brothers in the east.

Mrs. Mannix was widely acquainted in New York and Paris, as well as in the film capital. She and her husband made their most recent trip to Europe two years ago.

Pre-opening Party At New Tennis Club Last Sunday

The first event ever to be held at the new Palm Springs Tennis Club was staged Sunday, although the courts are as yet not completely finished. This event, a Tennis Party, was in advance of the formal opening of the club, which will be at some future date.

The highlight of the affair was a doubles match; Frank Shields and Phil Ormsby vs Lester Stoenen and Fred Leblonde, which Shields and Ormsby won.

Attending the Tennis Party were Dottie and Mary Helen Stein, Joseph Schenck, Lili Damita, and Charles Correll, Ruth Leblonde, Bill and Mary Gargan, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Millard, Carrol Naish, Karl Struss, Ruth Stoenen, Jane Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. George Archibaud, Mrs. Sunday (wife of the late Billy Sunday), and Richard Charnock (manager of Elsworth Vines.)

Miss Ruth Roberson Entertains Girls From Flintridge

There was much merriment at the Desert Inn over the week-end when Miss Ruth Roberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberson, entertained twelve of her pretty class mates from the fashionable Flintridge School for Girls.

Saturday was a big day with a horseback breakfast ride to Chino Canyon in the morning; a barbecue luncheon picnic prepared by the cowboys at the Desert Inn's "Camp Carizzo" on the Palms to Pines highway, with entertainment by Whiteflower, Dusty and Jim, at noon. . . . The evening was spent dancing at Bil-Ais.

Sunday was devoted to just "foolin' around," with rides over desert trails, swimming, badminton, taking pictures, looking at the "funnies," and other things that girls might do who spend most of their time with studies.

As the sun went down beyond San Jacinto, the girls were given a fond adieu by Mrs. Roberson and all started for Flintridge with memories of a happy week-end spent at the Desert Inn. Ruth returned here again on Wednesday for Thanksgiving holidays. Her guests were: Miss Alice Cohn, Alice Lathrop, Margaret Hurtz, Mary Pike, Deider Conselman, Kit Perkins, Marion Kirkpatrick, Jane Hepter, Marthadunn Kirkpatrick and Helen Moore.

BEADED BELTS ON DISPLAY HERE

There are belts, and belts, but probably the finest lot of beaded belts ever shown here are on display at Indian-oya, Indian trading post. These belts have hand-tooled tips. Indian-oya has the largest line of belts they have ever had, in all sizes, for children and adults.

Chuck Morrison will be in Hollywood tomorrow (Saturday) evening to ride with Sheriff Eugene Biscalz' famous posse through Santa Claus Lane for the opening of the Christmas shopping season in Hollywood.

The Desert

coaches in the good old days were excellent sports when the road became rough or it was necessary for the passengers to get out and walk through the heavy sand or up steep grades. The road is still unpaved.

This time of year the washes are clothed with a vigorous annual, sometimes three feet high. It is called tumbleweed and is a member of the composite family. If you have been walking and find yourself covered with a golden powder the chances are that it is the pollen from this plant. If you have a mysterious case of hay fever is also might be traced to the pollen of the tumbleweed. The scientific name is Dicoria canescens; Dicoria is from the Greek and means "twice and bug," and refers to the small dry fruit that resembles two bugs; canescens refers to the grayness of the plant.

Dicoria canescens is a remarkable plant. The seed germinates during the spring but the plant remains quite small during the spring and early summer but when the temperature becomes high and most of the other annuals have long since dried this annual begins a vigorous growth, reaching its maturity during the late fall months. It is remarkable that the growth is delayed until the heat of the late summer when growing conditions seem to be the most difficult.

After the plant and seeds are mature the root breaks near the root-crown and the plants go tumbling over the desert. It is this movement that gives rise to the name tumbleweed. Tumbling about of the plant by the wind is an efficient method for the wide distribution of the seed.
